

A photograph of the Callanish Standing Stones, a Neolithic henge monument on the Isle of Lewis, Scotland. The stones are tall, dark grey monoliths standing in a roughly circular arrangement on a grassy hillside. The background shows a vast, cloudy sky.

STFC, University of Edinburgh DiRAC computer “Tursa”

Tursa is Gaelic for monolith or standing stone